Bio:

Luna Stix is the protagonist of the story whose goal is to bring back the Moon to Earth. She leads her team that consists of her senile wheelchaired grandmother Granny O-Gee and her guitar playing joyful dog Spotty Phi. Luna was born in 2667 in a post-flood founded small town called New Hope on what's left of the North-American continent. Luna grew up seeing how people fend for their own well being at the cost of others, while, according to her grandmother Granny O-Gee, people were warm and caring earlier in history. At the age of 13, there was an incident where Luna brutally killed a young man who was harassing her. Luna took Granny and Spotty Phi the dog and fled to a lakeside forest, and built a wheelchair accessible log cabin there. Luna is warm and caring for those who deserve it but can be merciless to those who willfully do harm -- but she hates the dark side of herself. Luna wonders if there would be a way to make things better for the people, and to ease down the rage in her heart. Bringing the moon back would be a good start. Luna will do whatever it takes to do that, even if it means having to use the horrible rage inside of her.
