

THE MAN WHO SOLD THE MOON

- Genre: 2D Platformer Girl Power Game
- Platform: Console
- Audience: Fun loving girls and other people aged 16-30; Explorer-Achievers.

- Setting: A dusty and rocky planet
 - Location: Blob Domes
 - Theme: Obsession with money
- By: Martijn Herrman

STORY:

A world is lost... literally. The President of Earth has sold the Moon to the highest bidder. All hopes of getting it back rest upon LUNA STIX, a dark teenager with exceptionally long hair, and her two besties: her senile grandmother GRANNY-O-GEE and her guitar playing dog SPOTTY PHI.

Together they must:

- Infiltrate and explore the Blob Domes on the Planet of Dust And Rocks,
- Solve puzzles using clues and secret passages,
- An fight the evil race of shape-shifting BLOBS,

In order to reclaim what the Blobs have taken by funds: The Moon!

GAMEPLAY:

A classic 2D platformer, levels with key-and-door puzzles, hidden passages to secret rooms, a wide variety of enemy Blobs that shoot, punch, or stand in the way, with cartoon style graphics and a Day Of The Tentacle-like humor.

Luna Stix, Granny-O-Gee and Spotty Phi each have their own unique set of skills. You have to switch between them to solve the puzzles and progress.

